ANNUAL LIBRARY TAG DAY THIS SATURDAY, AUGUST 24TH.

Saturday, August 24, should be a Red Letter Day for the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library for that is the date set for the library's annual Tag Day, when the "Friends of the Library Group" are asked to contribute to the yearly fund for the operation of the library. Possibly the public does not know that other than the salaries of the librarians, which are paid by the city and county, the library finances itself for all operating expenses, buying of books, buying of supplies, janitor service, etc. And how does it do it? By having occasional book reviews, which average not over $15, if that, per review, small donations from interested friends and the annual Tag Day none of which yield a sufficient amount for the general operation of the library, and only by very careful financing has it been possible to carry on. Last year the idea was conceived to set as a goal for Tag Day $500 and that amount was realized. Another August has rolled around and again you are asked to give—not $500, but $750. Cards are being mailed out to the public saying: If 50 persons will each donate $5, totaling $250; 100 persons will each donate $2, totaling $200; 200 persons will each donate $1, totaling $200; 200 persons each donate $.50, totaling $100, the grand total will be $750.00. Will you contribute to this?

The Teenagers will be out on the street the greater part of Saturday, soliciting. If they fail to contact you be sure to turn it in to the library or mail your check. If you prefer to send it in without waiting for the Taggers it will be gratefully received. Your town needs the library. The Library needs you.

This unit is headed by Mr. E. H. Kitchens, Inspector in Charge of the Collaboration Unit of Alcohol and Income Tax Laws and is composed of 9 men, five alcohol tax men and four income tax experts. This unit has charge of the investigation of all income tax evasion cases throughout the State of Mississippi, and to date have visited 45 counties. These units were formed under executive direction of President Truman.

Buying War Bonds

The people of Mississippi acquired a habit of buying bonds during the war years which is staying with them in peace—a habit which is fundamental to our future economic welfare in this state.

The U. S. Treasury's bond office in Jackson has just released sales report showing that in the first seven months of 1946 the people of Mississippi bought $27,229,586 in E. F. and G. Savings Bonds, an average of almost 4 million a month.

The office released figures showing that during the war and the year since its end, individuals in Mississippi bought $382,974,536 in E. F. and G. Savings Bonds. To date, only 23 percent of these bonds have been cashed in. This is slightly above the national average of cashing. However, it is not near as high as most people had expected.

In time of war, under pressure of patriotic zeal, and an excellent selling campaign, nearly all of us bought bonds. We found we could do it. Seventy-seven percent, or $294,890,382 of those E. F. and G. Bonds are still in the hands of folks of Mississippi who bought them. We have found out we don't have to spend those savings.

In Hancock County, the sale of E. F. and G. Bonds for the first seven months of 1946 has amounted to $217,555.00.

Miss Elmire Villere Speaker At Rotary Luncheon

The Veteen's Hospital, Gulfport, at a most interesting talk was given members of Rotary by Miss Elmire Villere, Red Cross staff worker at the Veteen's Hospital, Gulfport, at their weekly meeting in the Reed Hotel.

Miss Villere is a native of New Orleans, formerly lived in Bay St. Louis and attended St. Joseph's Academy. She joined the Red Cross at the opening of war, went to England immediately and later in France with the Normandy Invasion. One of her most dangerous moments was the time when she was caught between the lines in the Battle of the Bulge.

Miss Villere asked for co-operation of the people of Bay St. Louis with the Veterans Administration in entertaining returned veterans. Every community has a definite responsibility toward helping rehabilitating these men. One of the best ways she said, was to encourage visits of the veterans to interesting points in Bay St. Louis and, while here, to provide an entertainment program for them.

Mrs. Leo W. Seal and Mrs. J. B. Goldman, in charge of the local Gray Ladies, Unit, will welcome volunteers to participate in this work.

Farmers Co-Op To Hold Annual Meeting

The Farmers Coop Creamery in Bay St. Louis will hold its annual membership meeting on Tuesday, August 27. The auditors' report for the year will be given and election of five directors will take place. The Coop got off to a bad start in May, 1945 but the last few months have shown that a plant of its kind can be successful. From July 1-15 of this year, before the price of milk was increased, the plant showed earnings of $4.70 per hundred lbs. This earning is considered extra good considering the retail price at that time. From July 16-31 the earnings were $6.10 per hundred.

The Coop in Bay St. Louis owned by dairy farmers of Hancock County, is the only one of its kind in South Mississippi and its success will largely decide whether others like it are built.

"H. C. OF L." APPROACHES

RETAIL prices for living essentials for moderate income families increased about five and one-half per cent for the month ending July 15, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which says that this is the largest monthly increase since 1940 and probably the largest since 1913.

The living essentials that are included in the statistics are food, house-furnishings, fuel, miscellaneous goods and services, recreation, personal service such as beauty shops, transportation and medical care. Foods registered the largest advance, 13 per cent, due principally to increases of 30 per cent in the cost of meat and 20 per cent in dairy products.

It will be interesting to see whether the trend of prices for living essentials continues to increase. It will not take long for the cost of living to become burdensome if prices show any tendency to match the increase in the month surveyed.

CAN "PEOPLES" MAKE PEACE?

AN editor writing of the peace conference in Paris says that the "great frustration" is that "the people have so little direct voice."

This is an interesting complaint but if anyone has figured out a method by which the people can have a direct voice in the work of framing the peace treaties of Europe, we have never heard of it.

There are close to 140,000,000 people in the United States. They are unable to agree upon any political issue, debate economic issues with considerable difference of opinion and find it almost impossible to agree upon the simplest tenets of religion. How can the voice of Americans become "direct" in Paris?

The situation in many other countries is considerably worse. Let us take Russia, for example, where the people have practically no direct voice in their own government. Can anyone imagine a system that would make effective the voice of the Russian people in Paris?

The suggestion that the delegates to the peace conference should be members of the legislative body elected by the people of a country does not meet the need. Obviously, there are many members of the American Congress with views on foreign questions that have never been approved by the people of the United States in any direct vote. There is certainly no reason to believe that the selection of a Member of Congress would give the United States a delegate more in line with the views of the people than the Secretary of State, appointed by the President.

It should not be overlooked, in this connection, that there are many countries in which the people are not accustomed to participate directly by vote or otherwise in determining grave and important issues. Where there are not free elections, in the fullest sense of the term, one country can name a delegate to represent the people and, where there are elections in the freest sense, an elected delegate could only represent the views of the majority of the voters.

HIGH TAXES NECESSARY

SENATOR Walter F. George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, says there will be "no substantial change in tax rates," except excise taxes for two reasons: The "entirely too high" budget and the difficulty of drafting a thorough revision bill to take effect prior to 1948.

The situation now confronting the United States does not warrant any reduction of taxes at the present time. Not only does the nation face an expanded budget, including benefits for veterans and expenditures for adequate defense but the scope of its activity has been greatly enlarged in the last two decades. In addition, there is a tremendous national debt which should be reduced if the nation is to put its economic house in order and be prepared to meet a future financial emergency.

Many business organizations and individuals will exert pressure upon Congressmen in an effort to have taxes reduced. They will overlook the fact that unless the government collects taxes in good years, it will never be able to reduce the national debt. Certainly, it is advisable for the government to maintain high taxes and reduce its debt in order to trim it down before there is a recession. In addition, the burden of adequate preparedness for possible war grows yearly and the safety of the nation should not be jeopardized by a tax-reduction drive.

IT'S A FACT

That 80 per cent of the nation's supply of shrimp is caught by Mississippi fishermen and shipped or packed by Mississippi workers. The waters around the mouth of the Mississippi River provide the United States' greatest breeding grounds for shrimp. More than 500 luggers from Mississippi Gulf Coast towns work these waters during every shrimp season.

AND IT'S ALSO A FACT

That the United States Brewers Foundation, through its Mississippi Committee, keeps in touch with each of the State's more than 3,500 beer retailers; advises them as to the laws and regulations governing the sale of beer; suggests approved methods of operation; and invites the cooperation of patrons in the observance of good conduct wherever beer is sold. The Foundation solicits the support of every good citizen in its efforts to surround this moderate beverage with the high standards of a legitimate industry.

LITTLE THEATER

The Little Theater production for August was something new and different. A "double-feature" was offered, consisting of two one-act plays providing a variety in entertainment value and at the same time demonstrating the versatility and production ability of the group which has now become a part of Bay St. Louis. The first play was "Ten Flights Up" by Lillian Carroll. This was a light comedy by Betty Simpson, Rella Mae Gilmore, Amelia Manieri and Mary Frances Scaife. Laughs came one after another spontaneously from the audience as the cleverly contrasted characters of the four women were revealed.

Ten Flights Up was directed by Mrs. Clifton Ferrell, whose nice appreciation of each dramatic situation and each chance for a "laugh-line" brought out the full possibilities of the short comedy.

In sharp contrast followed "A Night at an Inn," one-act melodrama by Lord Dunsany. This piece revolves around the uncanny revenge exacted by a Hindu God on a band of English sailors who have stolen his ruby eye. The entire play is blanketed by a mysterious suspense, a premonition of fateful retribution from out-of-this-world.

In directing this all-male cast Mrs. Rene de Montuzin, Jr., did a job which we think would have pleased Lord Dunsany had he been fortunate enough to be present.

The cast included Demie Tonkel, Joe diBenedetto, and Clay Blair, Jr., all "veterans" of Little Theater past performances, and Nigel Rafferty (who made a splendid Cockney seaman). Also A. J. Thomas, Frank Kiefer, Henry Otis, who were all silently murdered; and Carl Smith, Jr., the Hindu God himself.

Stage settings for both plays were by Mr. J. C. Jones, and Cynthia Richardson, assisted by C. D. Blair, H. Vainir, J. Kern, E. Mauffray, and J. Haas.

Lighting effects by Joseph Perry; Research by A. J. Thomas.

Make-up by Mrs. Mary Dodge.

It is interesting to note that between the two plays a complete change of scene was accomplished. From ten flights up in a New York hotel a jump was made to a deserted inn someplace in rural England. The transition was made in less than fifteen minutes. This means that there is more "technical" talent in the Little Theater than meets the eye. Add that to the surprising acting talent which has been brought forward, and it means that the Little Theater is on the move forward. However, it cannot be too strongly stressed that it is not the purpose of the Little Theater to keep on using the same players over and over. Those who can possibly do so are urged to try out for parts or to offer their help with "back-stage" work. Active participation from all those who are interested is required for continued success.

CAN YOU PUT THIS PUZZLE TOGETHER?

It forms the first letter of a Big Bargain for your Business

Here's a fascinating little puzzle. When properly assembled it forms the letter T—for telephone.

Now there's an instrument of progress which has grown so in value that the only puzzling thing about the telephone is how business ever managed to get along without it. Today there are twice as many telephones as there were 20 years ago—five times as many as there were 30 years ago! As telephone service has grown, so has your own business. More telephones—more customers—more business for you.

Not only in value and usefulness, but in cost, the telephone stands out as a real bargain. Consider that your telephone rate is less today than it was years ago. This record, this genuine achievement, is becoming more and more difficult to maintain. That's because the trend of rising costs confronting all businesses is increasing the cost of everything going into the furnishing of telephone service to you.

ORTTE THEATRE SUNDAY—MONDAY "CAESAR AND CLEOPATRA"

Starring Vivien Leigh and Claude Rains in Technicolor

Although the magnificent Technicolor version of Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" which bows in at the Ortte Theatre, Sunday and Monday may be remembered as one of the most elaborate and luxurious film spectacles of the past cinema decade, it will be rated as one of the most delightful and charming historical saures. The deft touch of that master producer-director, Gabriel Pascal, can be felt throughout, but it easily can be seen that the sage old Irish bard had plenty to say when this favorite play of his was transferred to the screen.

Shaw portrays Julius Caesar as a charming romantic, suave, humorous and considerate mediator of the tangled affairs of a divided Egypt. Definitely he is not pictured as the ruthless conqueror of our history books. And his Cleopatra is not the voluptuous queen we immediately think of when her name is mentioned, but an enchanting and utterly irresistible young girl with the blood of the ambitious Pharaohs running through her veins. It is the wise and kindly Caesar who, falling under her spell, helps her achieve the throne and teaches her the fundamental principles of true majesty.

Claude Rains was an inspired choice for the role of Caesar. He brings this hitherto awesome historical character to life with an unforgettable finesse and charm. He makes him at once a shrewd military tactician and a man whom experience has taught the simple arts of understanding and true friendship. He is Shaw's Caesar to the life! What more can a critic say?

As the sometimes frightened, sometimes petulant Cleopatra who longs to push her young brother, Ptolemy, off the throne of Egypt and occupy it herself, Vivien Leigh is enchantingly lovely. She, too, was an inspired choice for this demanding role. Definitely Miss Leigh has not let down those fans far and wide who acclaimed her a top-ranking star for her skillful portrayal of Scarlett O'Hara in the much-talked-about "Gone With The Wind."

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. It's like a tonic. It should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build up strength for the "time" to come. Started 8 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!
